

How to backup your browser bookmarks

1/7/22

Firefox browser

1. Click the Settings button. (3 lines in the upper right)
2. Bookmarks, Manage bookmarks (at the bottom). A "Library" screen opens up.
3. Click "Import and Backup" along the top.
4. Choose "Export Bookmarks to HTML file". A browse window will open up.
5. Along the left find your Documents folder and click on it.
6. In the right side of the screen save to a file like "Firefox bookmarks backup"
If that file does not exist type in the name along the bottom.
7. Click the SAVE button.

Chrome browser

1. Click the Settings button. (3 dots in the upper right)
2. Choose "Bookmarks", then "Bookmark manager"
3. Click 3 dots in the upper right on the blue bar.
4. Choose "Export bookmarks". A browse window will open up.
5. Along the left find your Documents folder and click on it.
6. In the right side of the screen save to a file like "Chrome bookmarks backup"
If that file does not exist type in the name along the bottom.
7. Click the SAVE button.

Edge browser

1. Click the Settings button. (3 dots in the upper right)
2. Choose "Favorites". A favorites list will show.
3. Click 3 dots in the upper right corner of that favorites list.
4. Choose "Export favorites" from the menu. A browse window will open up.
5. Along the left find your Documents folder and click on it.
6. In the right side of the screen save to a file like "Edge favorites backup"
If that file does not exist type in the name along the bottom.
7. Click the SAVE button.